JUNIATA BEGINS 95th ACADEMIC YEAR

changes and self analysis mark campus life

More than 400 new freshmen arrived on Juniata's campus this month for the beginning of its 95th academic year. Not since 1636, when Harvard was founded, have American colleges faced issues so complex and so difficult to resolve.

President John N. Stauffer has moved energetically in this time of crisis and change in higher education to strengthen Juniata's financial situation, administrative organization, curriculum and the educational program:

- Through the new Annual Support Fund and through careful budget control procedures, he acted to reduce the strain of inflation on Juniata's program. The Annual Support Fund raised more than $115,000 for current operating expenses in its first year.

- While reducing the annual deficit through stringent economies, the president also reported the decision of the Board of Trustees to raise tuition by $210 for a total of $3,190 for 1971-72. This yearly fee also includes room, board and the various student cultural and sports events.

"In facing this necessity," Dr. Stauffer wrote to parents, "Juniata is having the same experience as virtually every college and university, both public and private, in the country. As you will readily recognize we are not immune from the serious inflation which affects all parts of the economy."

- The important post of academic dean was temporarily filled when Dr. Stauffer announced in August the appointment of Dr. Wilfred G. Norris '54, professor of physics, as acting dean, replacing Dr. Donald M. Rockwell who returns to the department of chemistry.

- As soon as he assumed the presi-

President John N. Stauffer presents the third annual Beachley Distinguished Professor Award to Dr. Donald M. Rockwell during the Commencement exercises in May. The award was established by Dr. Donovan R. Beachley, Sr. '21 and the late Mrs. Donovan R. Beachley, Sr. '21 and by Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Beachley, Jr. '47.

Eight men or eight women will occupy private suites in each of the new units, Flory, Kline, Long and Miller Residences. The attractively decorated apartments command a sweeping view of the football practice fields and the main campus.

dency, Dr. Stauffer urged the establishment of a Juniata Task Force whose task it would be to propose improvements in the educational program. This month the hard working committee makes its first major report to the faculty following a year of intense study and discussions.

- The inclusion of students on the Task Force introduces their critical commentary and marks a change in student status. In his speech to the alumni during Commencement Weekend, Dr. Stauffer pointed to the increased involvement of students and faculty in institutional affairs.

- Perhaps the most obvious of the changes on campus are in the physical plant itself. Students Hall, Brumbaugh and Oneida Halls, the temporary Home Economics building, are being torn down. Only the familiar Founders and the Women's gym are to remain of the original campus complex.

The relatively new Oneida Dining Room wing will be preserved and remodeled for use by the Financial and Business Affairs Offices.

Upperclass students are living in the new East Houses: Flory, Kline, Long and Miller Houses. Eight students are accommodated in each single living unit consisting of two bedrooms, bath and living room. The Tussey-Terrace Complex is now divided between men and women students with women occupying Terrace and men housed in Tussey.

Approximately 22 new faculty members face expectant classes this fall while eleven of the present teaching staff are either on leave or sabbaticals.

PEOPLE WE KNOW

the alumni classes from 1963 to 1970

by NAN HUNT '56

When reading the class news in this issue of our paper, don't get upset because your class may not be here! In adding this new publication there was such an accumulation of news from the past six months that we had space limitations, so in this issue we decided to "go like Sixty", but the rest of you will see your news in the next issue—only two months from now. If you'll bear with us for a few months, we feel sure that you'll like the new system that will eventually give you more up-to-date information on the alumni than we've ever been able to give you before.

So keep those cards and letters coming, gang! And we'll try to get them out for all to see as quickly as possible.

MRS. NAN HUNT '56

SPOTLIGHT

We'd like to turn the spotlight on a member of the class of '62 in this issue and write with justifiable pride about BURT LEETE. Burt attained the highest bar exam grade when he was among 148 who passed the Maryland examination recently. When he was informed he was number one in the state scoring, Burt stated "I was surprised I was first because you just don't know how you've done when you take it."

Burt plans to practice law in Montgomery or Prince George's County. In addition to being on the staff of The American University Law Review and being president of Delta Theta Phi, a legal fraternity, Burt has been clerking for an area law firm and serving as assistant professor in the University of Maryland's undergraduate business program. He plans to continue teaching after opening his private practice.

Wife Karen was teaching fourth grade while Burt went to law school at night. Karen and Burt are the parents of a two year old daughter, Jennifer.

This bright young attorney feels that the law provides an opportunity to do something about the problems of which the younger generation is so aware. He feels also that changes in the law and recent rulings have opened avenues to "do something about these things."

Although his recent accomplishments are impressive, we expect the future to be even more exciting and promising for alumnus Burt Leete!

Two Juniata juniors were united in marriage on March 21, 1970. SARAH JANE REEDER and LLOYD ESTLE ROGERS III were wed in the Fifteenth Street Methodist Church of Huntingdon and are currently living at 821 Mifflin St. in Huntingdon.

NORRIS APPOINTED ACTING DEAN new faculty announced

Dr. John N. Stauffer announced the appointment of Dr. Wilfred G. Norris '54, as acting dean of academic affairs, replacing Dr. Donald M. Rockwell.

Dr. Rockwell who received the third annual Beachley Distinguished Professor Award during the June Commencement exercises, will return to the department of chemistry and also be a consultant to Dr. Norris.

Dr. Norris has agreed to serve until August 31, 1971, while the search for a permanent academic dean continues.

In his announcement of the appointment Dr. Stauffer explained that the College had not had sufficient "time to search further for a new dean for the 1970-71 academic year." He said the search would be resumed early this fall with a view toward making an appointment by late winter or early spring.

Dr. Norris will be assisted by Thomas B. Robinson '66, assistant to the president, which will enable him to continue his physics department responsibilities.

A 1954 graduate of Juniata, Dr. Norris studied at the University of Tübingen, Germany on a Fulbright fellowship and received his Ph.D. from Harvard in 1963. He joined the Juniata faculty in 1958, was appointed chairman of the physics department in 1964 and in 1966 was named the William I. and Zella B. Book Professor of Physics.

During the past year Dr. Norris has served as chairman of the Task Force commissioned to make a study of the entire Juniata educational program. As acting dean, he will assist the faculty in its consideration of the Task Force recommendations.

He is married to the former Lona L. Beabes '57. They have three children, Guenever, 11, Theodore, 9 and Elaine, 7.

Meanwhile Dr. Rockwell announced the following faculty appointments:

John M. Cauffman, assistant professor of mathematics; Cornelis J. Frijters, associate professor of German; Alexander T. McBride, assistant professor of art; Richard W. Montgomery, assistant professor of economics; Pierre M. Wegimont, assistant professor of French; James S. Dinger '67, instructor in geology; Mark R. Hochberg, instructor in English; Bruce A. Kesselring, instructor in mathematics; Jeffrey Koppel, instructor in sociology; James J. Lakso, instructor in economics; Janet R. Lewis, instructor in philosophy; John W. Moser, instructor in biology; William D. Nichol, instructor in economics; Jack Rabine, instructor in physical education; Jack A. Swinderman, instructor in physical education; John W. Biggs, assistant professor of mathematics; William J. Walsh, instructor in German (part-time); Maurleen Thomas, instructor in psychology (part-time); and Mrs. Peggy M. Jewkes, reference librarian.

Administrative appointments for the new academic year include Janet E. Cumming as associate dean of students; Ronald L. Shunk, associate dean of students; and Bruce W. Bader '70, as admissions counselor.

THREE TRUSTEES ARE NAMED

Three men were named to the Board of Trustees of Juniata College at the meeting held in June. They are LeRoy S. Maxwell, Sr. '36, Waynesboro; Klare S. Sunderland '56, Lemoyne, and, representing the Alumni Association, Rex W. Hershberger '50, Martinsburg.

Maxwell is a former Alumni Association president and alumni trustee. A lawyer, he has been a member of the President's Development Council and chairman of deferred giving in the "Margin of Difference" campaign.

Sunderland, owner of the Sunderland Chevrolet Company, was National Alumni Chairman of the "Margin of Difference" campaign, phase I, and has been an active participant in alumni affairs.

Hershberger, chairman of the Church of the Brethren Committee of the Margin of Difference campaign is a partner in the insurance firm of Hershberger and Myers, Inc.

NEWS BRIEFS

ELECTED TO ALUMNI COUNCIL

Three persons were elected to the Alumni Council, it was announced by Glenn C. Zug '51, director of alumni affairs. They are Mrs. Cyrus O. Caulton '29, of Bryn Mawr; Dr. Ben F. Van Horn '41, of New Enterprise; and Ronald W. Wertz '59, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Caulton, who played an active role in the solicitation for the Ellis Humanities Series fund, is a prominent volunteer worker for many Juniata projects.

Dr. Van Horn is supervising principal of the Northern Bedford Schools and in 1965 was named "Administrator of the Year" by the Pennsylvania School Study Council.

Ronald Wertz was director of admissions at Juniata from 1960-63 and was most recently director of development at Franklin and Marshall College before becoming executive director of the Hillman Foundation in Pittsburgh.

FACULTY PROMOTIONS

Dr. John N. Stauffer announced the advancement in rank of three faculty members.

Dr. Paul D. Schettler, a member of the Juniata faculty since 1967, was promoted to associate professor of chemistry.

Dr. Julie L. Drews was promoted to assistant professor of psychology, a rank also held by her husband, Dr. David R. Drews.

Donald T. Hartman was promoted to assistant professor of philosophy.

STAUFFER ON COMMISSIONS

President Stauffer was recently elected to the executive committee of the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities in Pennsylvania.

The committee of ten college presidents will direct the efforts of the Commission to serve as a liaison between the State Board of Education and the private sector of higher education.

Earlier, Dr. Stauffer was elected to the commission on students and faculty of the American Association of Colleges and re-elected to a term on the Board of College Education and Church Vocations of the Lutheran Colleges in America.

PARENTS ASSOCIATION

Ardie W. Winters of Waynesboro was elected president of the Juniata Parents Association for the 1970-71 academic year. His daughter Dehra, a biology major, is a member of the Class of 1971.

SUPPORT FUND "OVER THE TOP" WITH $115,458

President Stauffer congratulates Chairman William E. Swigart, Jr. on the successful campaign.

Juniata College has gone "over the top" in the drive for $100,000 in contributions to its first Annual Support Fund.

Dr. John N. Stauffer, president, reported that a total of $115,458 given by alumni, trustees, parents and friends of the College has put the drive "over the top" at the close of Juniata's fiscal year, which ended June 30.

Huntingdon insurance executive William E. Swigart, Jr. '37, received words of praise and gratitude from Dr. Stauffer and other members of the college administration for his outstanding leadership as general chairman of the successful campaign. More than 2,200 alumni supported Juniata's development efforts during the past academic year, which is a ten per cent increase over a record-breaking performance in 1968-69, he added.

Approved by the Juniata Board of Trustees last October as a means of closing the gap between actual income and the College's operating budget of $4 million, the Annual Support Fund will be continued as one of three major fund-raising activities of the College.

Dr. Stauffer explained that annual support income was of considerable importance this year in helping the College meet immediate needs and providing support for faculty salaries, student aid and essential instructional equipment.

Meanwhile Juniata is engaged in the second phase of the $10.1 million "Margin of Difference" capital campaign, which is the largest development program in the College's history and it will conclude during the Centennial in 1976.

JUNIATA RATED TOP MAC CONTENDER

Swinderman named basketball and cross country coach

FOOTBALL

For the third time in 47 years the Juniata Indians will play a nine-game schedule with five games at home including the first two contests of the football season beginning Sept. 19.

The first "niner" was in 1928 when the Tribe had a losing season. The following year, however, they made up for it with the first winning season in the ten year history of the sport at College Field. More recently, in 1968, former head coach Fred Prender's last season (7-2) continued the winning tradition.

With 20 returning lettermen on hand and speedy record setter Dave Sparks prepared to hit the line harder than last year, prospects are good that the Indians will better last year's 5-3 record.

Split-end Dan Rackovan leads the team in pass receiving and he and offensive tackle Dan Browne are expected to be leaders up front this season as juniors. Quarterback is a question-mark, but it's hoped that junior Dennis Karli will develop favorably.

Defensively, cornerman and co-captain Dan Greening should consolidate a young but veteran group, led by middle guard Sal Mercadante and tackle Jim Guenthoer along with solid support from defensive end Ray Grabiak and linebacker Bob Waggoner.

The August issue of "Football Round-up" magazine quoted Head Coach Walt Nadzak as saying, "We could be very good or very average, but you can be assured we'll be very competitive." The article went on to rank Juniata as one of the top three choices for the northern college division championship in the Middle Atlantic Conference.

The addition of Jack Swinderman, who comes from Ohio to fill the basketball coaching position vacated by Russ Trimmer, and Jack Rabine of Western Michigan as offensive line coach for the forthcoming football season, makes for a promising "new look" on both the gridiron and the hardwood court in Indian country this year.

Whatever the prospects, football fans can be certain to find good, clean excitement on College Field on five Saturday afternoons this fall.

Jack Swinderman, a former head basketball coach at Denison University, comes to the Juniata staff from East Palestine High School in Ohio.

CROSS COUNTRY

Two of those Saturday afternoon football contests will be punctuated with an "added attraction" halftime introduction of the 1970 varsity cross country team under new coach Jack Swinderman. On Sept. 19 and 26 the Indian thinclads will head for the hills in 4.8-mile treks against St. Francis and Albright Colleges.

The chief strength of Juniata's cross-country effort this season will be the return of Dennis Weidler of Annville, who last season set new course records both at Juniata and at Indiana University of Pennsylvania. A junior this year, Weidler will captain the harriers, hopefully to a winning season to improve last year's record of 6 wins, 9 losses.
